Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) OR THIRTY (30) DAYS, WHICHEVER IS LONGER, FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

Status

- 1) ☒ Responsive to communication(s) filed on 07 July 2003.
- 2a) ☐ This action is FINAL. 2b) ☒ This action is non-final.
- 3) ☐ Since this application is in condition for allowance except for formal matters, prosecution as to the merits is closed in accordance with the practice under Ex parte Quayle, 1935 C.D. 11, 453 O.G. 213.

DETAILED OFFICE ACTION

1. This communication is responsive to the application filed on July 7, 2003.

Claims 1-32 are presented for examination.

References in applicant's IDS form 1449 have been considered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC §102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

3. Claims 1-32, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Mooney et al U.S. Patent No. 7,127,209.

4. As to claim 1, Mooney teaches a method that facilitates dynamic delivery of service profiles to a client, comprising:

performing a discovery operation to allow the client to discover new services on a network (col. 6, lines 35-51, client on first communication device initiates a service discovery protocol in the Bluetooth device with other communication devices located in the vicinity to discover new service on the communication devices);

if a new service is discovered for which the client does not possess a service profile (col. 6, lines 35-51, all service that are contained on the nearby communication devices are detected), causing the client to obtain the service profile from the new service; and causing the service profile to be installed on the client to enable the client to use the new service (col. 6, lines 35-51, the service records for all service that are contained on the nearby communication devices are transmitted to the client device).

5. As to claim 2, Mooney teaches the method of claim 1, wherein causing the client to obtain the service profile involves: causing the client to send a request for the service profile to the new service; and causing the client to receive the service profile from the new service (col. 6, lines 35-51).

6. As to claim 3, Mooney teaches the method of claim 1, wherein the service profile includes code, and wherein causing the service profile to be installed on the client involves causing the code to be installed on the client (col. 6, lines 35-51 and col. 3, lines 1-15).

7. As to claim 4, Mooney teaches the method of claim 1, wherein the service profile includes a specification that describes how to use the new service; and wherein causing the service profile to be installed on the client involves, causing code to be generated to implement the specification, and causing the code to be installed on the client (col. 6, lines 35-51 and col. 3, lines 1-15).

Art Unit: 2155

8. As to claim 5, Mooney teaches the method of claim 1, wherein the service profile is encoded in a universal form that can be executed by different types of clients (col. 6, lines 35-51 and col. 3, lines 1-15).

9. As to claim 6, Mooney teaches the method of claim 1, wherein there exist different service profile implementations for different types of clients; and wherein causing the client to obtain the service profile involves, communicating characteristics of the client to the new service, allowing the new service to select a service profile implementation for the client based on the characteristics of the client, and allowing the new service to send the selected service profile implementation to the client (col. 6, lines 35-51 and col. 3, lines 1-15).

10. As to claim 7, Mooney teaches the method of claim 1, wherein causing the client to obtain the service profile from the new service involves executing a dynamic extension profile, which implements a standard protocol that enables the client to acquire any profile the client needs at the time the profile is needed (col. 6, lines 35-51 and col. 3, lines 1-15).

11. As to claim 8, Mooney teaches the method of claim 1, wherein performing the discovery operation involves using the Bluetooth Service Discovery Protocol (SDP); and wherein the client and the new service communicate using the Bluetooth networking standard (col. 6, lines 35-51 and col. 3, lines 1-15).

12. As to claim 9, Mooney teaches the method of claim 1, wherein the service profile can define a service-specific Application Programming Interface (API) (col. 6, lines 35-51 and col. 3, lines 1-15).

13. As to claim 10, Mooney teaches the method of claim 1, wherein the service profile implements a domain-specific protocol stack associated with the new service (col. 6, lines 35-51 and col. 3, lines 1-15).

14. Claims 11-32 do not teach or further define any limitations above claims 1-10, therefore, they are rejected for similar reasons

15. EXAMINER NOTE: Examiner has cited particular columns and line numbers in the references as applied to the claims above for the convenience of the applicant. Although the specified citations are representative of the teachings of the art and are applied to the specific limitations within the individual claim, other passages and figures may apply as well. It is respectfully requested from the applicant in preparing responses, to fully consider the references in its entirety as potentially teaching of all or part of the claimed invention, as well as the context of the passage as taught by the prior art or disclosed by the examiner.
